Who is it for?

Bedridden patients: the elderly, ill and disabled

Hospitals, Hospices, Welfare facilities, Senior-care facilities, Assisted-living facilities, Nursing homes

Why use it?

For care receivers: bedridden patients including the elderly and the disabled

To improve personal hygiene

To provide physical comfort as it detects urine and/or feces, automatically flushes, rinses, and air-dries

To uphold human dignity as it helps patients not to be ashamed or embarrassed

To help reduce fungal infections on the skin through prompt excrement disposal and air-dry feature

To prevent bladder infection and/or urinary tract infection often caused by use of paper diaper

To maintain emotional stability as it makes patients feel clean and fresh

To help relieve constipation and fecal incontinence

For care givers: family members, nurses, aides, carers, and health care facilities

To ease pressure on caregivers as the essential part of care being handled by Curaco Carebidet

To save time and efforts as diaper change is not required at night

To be free from odor, dirt, and mess

To get information on how many times the patient excretes

Economic and Environmental Effect

Curaco has significant economic and environmental impacts on users and societies.

Economic impact

Lower healthcare costs by reducing time and resources for nursing care

Inevitable strategy to address the shortage of caregivers in the ageing society

New paradigm in the healthcare industry shifting from disposable paper diaper to Curaco Carebidet

Highly efficient quality service provision with state-of-the-art technology

New care robot that takes care of excrement disposal for the bedridden

Environmental impact

Ecologically responsible choice to use less amounts of disposable paper diaper

Less CO2 emissions from industrial waste, contributing to prevent global warming

What is Curaco Carebidet?

Curaco Carebidet is the nursing care bidet (Automatic Toileting Aid System) for the bedridden. This ergonomically designed bidet is invented for people with limited mobility such as the elderly, patients, and the disabled.

When Curaco Carebidet detects urine and/or feces with its advanced built-in sensors, it automatically flushes excrement away, rinses, and air-dries the user's body, ensuring cleanness and comfort for the user without use of disposable paper diaper.

About CURACO

Etymology of Curaco

'Cura' means 'care' in Latin, and 'co' means 'corporation'. Together, 'Curaco' means the corporation that cares.

Company philosophy behind the 4-dot logo

Curaco's 4-dot logo symbolizes interlinking virtuous cycles.

First, it symbolizes the virtuous cycle of sincerely caring for our customers by creatively manufacturing our products, continuously improving them, and then receiving sincere feedback from our customers to make Curaco better. Second, it is also a symbol of the virtuous cycle of caring for our employees to make them better and receiving their care back to make Curaco better.

This vision is concisely reflected in the phrase, "C & B (Care & Better)" meaning that "We care to make you better".
